8 candidates pledge $1-million city recreation

"The Troutt team" candidates have pledged a massive $1 million city-wide recreation program to the executives of the Romulus Little League Association and Athletic Club.

As part of a 10-point program outlined to the executives during a session recently, the candidates promised the construction of eight 7-acre parks throughout the city to "fill the wasted time of our youths."

The candidates claim they

'Today, Romulus has extremely little, if anything, to offer children in rec facilities.'

will be able to finance the program by a two-mill tax increase after decreasing the water and sewer debt retirement millage from seven to zero.

A MILL raises $1 per $1,000 in assessed valuation.

Explained Terry Troutt, candidate for mayor on the Aug. 7 primary election: "The decision to make the recreation program our major campaign issue is based on a survey of Romulus residents and what they consider Romulus' most important need.

"Our biggest concern is for our youth."

"We have learned from the survey that residents feel a recreation program with sites within walking distances is the uppermost in their minds.

"TODAY, Romulus has extremely little, if anything at all, to offer children in recreation facilities."

Each recreation area will include a baseball diamond convertible into a football field with bleachers, picnic areas, a tot lot, shelters, rest rooms and storage facilities, tennis courts, ice and roller skating rinks, basketball courts and shuffleboards and parking facilities, according to Troutt.

Cost of each site, according to Troutt, will be $115,000, with a total cost of $920,000 projected by the candidate.

Troutt said the plan would be financed with a two-mill tax the voters after election.

HE SAID the tax will not be felt by the taxpayers, because he will abolish a seven-mill water and sewer tax currently carried on the books.

The net savings, according to Troutt, will be five mills from the current tax load.

Immediately after election, the Troutt team will sell a $1 million bond issue for the recreation program, he said.

"The issue will be paid off in four years."

He also claims there are enough surplus funds in the water and sewer budget to absorb costs during the next year. Although, he did not specify how the city will improve city and water and sewer facilities, and implement a city-wide drain program after dropping the millage.

"I PERSONALLY know for a fact that there is a surplus of over $1 million in the water fund," Troutt said. "This information has not been published and I feel that the people have a right to know what's going on in their government."

Water and sewer funds cannot be used in the city's general fund budget.

"Furthermore, there's a surplus of $750,000 from the 1973 city taxes, carried over to the 1974 budget," he said.

The money has been collected from the people and it's not been used.

"Both these amounts, totaling nearly $2 million are not benefiting anyone."

"WHY SHOULD this money lay in the bank while our kids go begging for recreation facilities?"

"We have one of the richest cities, per capita, in the State of Michigan, valued at $186 millions in 1973. There is no

22 candidates to file petitions in Romulus

Twenty-three candidates, including five incumbent councilmen, Mayor Hyle Carmichael and city treasurer Albert Glinski said they would file petitions for office by yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline.

Council President Jimmie C. Raspberry is included on the list of council candidates. Others running for re-election are Edmund Bizek Jr., Fred Junior Block, William M. Oakley and James Stewart.

Each incumbent is seeking his second consecutive term in office in the Aug. 7 primary election.

TERRY L. TROUTT, former Romulus Township Supervisor and Democratic state senator, is seeking the office of mayor.

The remaining candidates have filed for spots on the Romulus City Council. Included are Beverly McAnally, 6330 Hyde Park; Gilbert E. White, 10015 Romaine Rd.; Dolores E. Ristow, 12080 Wayne Rd.; Frederick M. Montgomery, 8433 Whitehorn Dr.; Thomas J. Gondek, 15305 Huron River Dr.; John M. Kruske, 14150 Inkster Rd.; Charles J. Dick Jr., 34449 California Rd.; and Barry T. Baumann, 35531 Stephanie Dr.

Seven persons will join

Troutt in an attempt to unseat the present administration and city council.

THEY ARE Garry Bingham, 27, of 35511 Stephanie St., clerk candidate; John Lewkowicz, 55, of 36723 Grant Rd., city treasurer candidate, and council candidates: Richard E. Butz, 38061 Walnut Dr.; Joan A. Lee, 28, of 28433 Cherry St.; Jack H. Trumble, 28305 Goddard Rd., Lnn Coleman, 32, and Robert H. Martin, 9533 Essex.

The clerk's office will be checking petitions for candidacy, to make sure candidates have at least 100 but not more than 200 valid signatures.

Signers of petitions may not sign more than seven petitions for council or one petition each for mayor, clerk and treasurer.

Township to appeal dispute on tax equalization factor

By HENRY CANTIN
The Huron Township administration has filed an appeal with the office of Gov. William G. Milliken to intervene in the current dispute between the administration and the Michigan State Tax Commission.

Township Supervisor George W. Moore's previous applications to have the state tax commission schedule a hearing on the township's protest on the state tax equalization factor met with failure. The annual state assessment valuation (SAV) factor set by the commission is used to compute property taxes in the township.

Supervisor Moore said Monday that he asked the governor intervene with the state tax commission to schedule a hearing on the township's grievances.

"WE OBJECT to the SAV factor set by the commission. There has been an annual increase in the township's state equalization property valuation of 11 per cent every year except this year since 1964 which is not entirely justified," Moore said.

He added that last year and again this year appeals for hearing before the tax commission were denied.

The SAV factor which is used to bring property valuation assessments up to meet state criteria and tax assessing procedures was 2.09 in 1972 and this year it was set at 2.30, Moore said.

He also said if the governor's office fails to respond to his request for intervention, he will appeal to the area's state representatives to sponsor legislation in the House of Representatives. Such legislation to provide that requested hearings be set with sufficient time to prepare appeals, which Moore said, presently does not exist.

Moore also said the township is considering possible court action, but is hesitating because of the high cost of legal proceedings based on litigation made by State Rep. Jack Welborn, Cooperstown Township, Kalamazoo.

A court action against the tax commission there ran in the neighborhood of $45,000, Moore said.

THE SUPERVISOR said the township has appealed to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

On May 3 the commissioners heard the appeal. They voted to have all city and township assessors meet every January before the regular meeting of the government committee of the commissioners and before the final SAV report is issued by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation. The county's bureau of taxation assessing methods

GEORGE W. MOORE are patterned after those of the state tax commission.

Clerk appeals for pay raises

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar wants to "appeal to the better halves of the council members for justice" in securing a raise for the non-union help in three administrative departments.

Folmar made a verbal appeal to the city council recently, asking the body to raise the salaries of the non-union clerical employees to keep them ahead of union clerical employees who recently received contract raises.

"We have the three executive secretaries - to the mayor, clerk and treasurer - and the assistant city clerk, who are now making less than they would if they were members of the union," he said. "I'm not saying that the union employees do not work, but these girls have extra duties, for which they receive no compensation."

ACCORDING to Folmar, recent union raises saw a union secretary making $155.72 per week, while the city budget calls for an administrative secretary to make $151.93 per week.

Likewise, a union bookkeeper makes $167.69 per week, while the deputy clerk makes $163.47 per week.

"In the past, the non-union clerical employees maintained a differential above the union employees," said Folmar. "But a recent dropping of the wage price guidelines, coupled with the raises granted union employees because of the lifting of the freeze for Romulus destroyed that differential."

"I think it only fair that we attempt to keep these people at the same level."

"THEY ARE not eligible to join the union, and therefore, the administration has an obligation to see that they are given equitable salaries."

According to Folmar's tallies, non-union employees worked a total of 262 hours extra per week during the past year for elections and registrations, and another 324 extra hours for council meetings and study sessions.

the union employees." Councilman Edmund Bizek said that the employees have not been turned down for a raise yet.

"He presented it to us, and we didn't take any action," he explained. "It's a matter of sitting down and discussing the thing."

"PERSONALLY, I have no objection to giving them raises, but I should point out that part of the problem is Folmar's."

"About a year ago, I think it was (Council President) Jimmie Raspberry who suggested that we give the two girls in Folmar's office a raise."

"At that time he turned it down, saying something about recommending a raise when he thought they were ready for it."

"So, I don't think it's entirely the council's fault."

BUSINESS AS USUAL — When they're not graduating from the Romulus Adult Education program, Elvira Cline and Marilyn Masters are driving students to their respective schools in the district. Last Thursday, the two graduated with many of "their" seniors — students they have driven through the years. The ladies were members of the Class of 1973 of the Romulus Adult Education program and their graduation was the result of hard work and determination to reach their goal — Romulus Roman photo by Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Two school bus drivers graduate with passengers

Two Romulus school bus drivers graduated from high school last Thursday evening, along with many of the seniors they have driven to school in Romulus over the past four years.

Elvira Seals Cline, 11314 Wahrman Rd., and Marilyn Masters, 36836 Northline, earned their diplomas through the Romulus Adult Education program and elected to march with "their" class in the traditional cap-and-gown ceremony.

THE TWO also were surprised by their fellow bus drivers with a graduation party at the school administrative offices.

Following refreshments, Lottie Green, hostess for the affair, introduced guests who paid tribute to the two.

Supt. Robert L. McConeghy addressed the group as did Assistant Supt. Thomas Janack and John Hadyniak, transportation foreman for the schools. Also heard was William Smith, adult education director for the district.

Mrs. Cline, who has six children, has been a driver for eight years. She said she had never had an opportunity to finish school when she was younger and wished to set an example by showing her family that it's never too late to learn.

Mrs. Cline attended classes on a part-time basis for four years and considered graduation one of her proudest moments.

MRS. MASTERS, entering her fourth year as a driver, also expressed a desire to set an example for her son who will be a Romulus High School senior this September.

Romulus councilman clarifies changes in proposed charter

Romulus Councilman Edmund Bizek, who served as chairman of the city's charter review commission, clarified some of the changes recommended by the commission.

Koch urges caution in driving

Romulus Police Chief Jacob Koch reminds all area residents to "Think Small" this summer, while driving on the city's streets.

"We have to remember that children are out of school, and there always is the danger of a 'darting' youngster while driving throughout the day," explained Chief Koch. "We're starting a 'Think Small' program, where we ask drivers to place a bumper sticker on their car, in the hope of reminding other drivers to be more careful in the summer time."

"Small children do not always think before they act, so we feel it is better for a driver to be aware that a child may be running into the street at any time during the summer months."

Chief Koch also explained that parents should remind their children of the elementary safety rules again during the summer.

"Such things as looking both ways and walking a bike when crossing streets are important lessons to teach to children each summer," explained the police chief.

"We have recommended some changes which bring the charter more in line," said Bizek. "One change would take the power of appointing a mayor, in the time of the incapacity of the full-time mayor, from the mayor pro tem to the city council."

"The present charter reads, the mayor pro tem 'has the power to appoint any other member of the council to the job of mayor.'"

"THE PROPOSED amendment will take that power away from one man and give it to the full council."

Another change would merely define the differences in power between the mayor's office and the council.

"The council, under the present charter, 'has the power to appoint department heads,'" Bizek said. "The proposed amendment does nothing but define the distinctions between a department and a commission to avoid administrative confusion."

After dancer's arrest

The action by the township board followed the arrest of a bottomless dancer in a New Boston located bar - Rossi's Place, and a request for a massage parlor license submitted to the township trustees by a Wyandotte resident.

The dancer was charged under the township's disorderly person ordinance which prohibits "improper exposure - in any place within the township."

THE REQUEST for a massage parlor license, according to Township Clerk Mrs. Mary Lou Carey, was to locate such a business in an

"IT MERELY makes a distinction between departments and commissions."

A third amendment will establish a department of the controller "to be in charge of the expenditure of city money and streamline the warrant procedure to allow it to function in accordance with the computer system of the city."

The new ordinances are to become effective in July. They will restrict pornography-related businesses from the township through the township's zoning laws.

One of the new ordinances prohibits the establishment of any nude modeling studios, massage parlors, bottomless and topless bars, adult book stores, movie houses and burlesque theaters without the consent of 51 per cent of the residents within 500 feet of the proposed business.

The other ordinances sets licensing regulations for such establishments where consent of area residents has been obtained. The new ordinances do not cover existing businesses in the area according to Township Attorney Richard James.

THE ATTORNEY said that the zoning ordinances presently is the most effective way of limiting pornography establishments. Past U.S. Supreme Court rulings have declared other types of anti-smut laws unconstitutional, he said.

During the heated township board session trustees, residents, Supervisor George M. Moore, contended in voting against the zoning ordinance, saying any zoning ordinance change must first be approved by the Wayne County Planning Commission.

Moore agreed on the ordinance calling for the licensing of the establishments.

"This is a license procedure and it doesn't require a zoning ordinance change," Moore said.

Area groups help rest home patients in Romulus

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Two community oriented groups, the Calvary Baptist Church in Wayne and the Dearborn Rotary Club, helped make the lives of two patients at Woody's Rest Home in Romulus more enjoyable.

Sheila Prescott and Larry Putman were admitted to Woody's several years ago. Thanks to the church, which donated a typewriter to Sheila, and the Rotary, which donated an electric wheelchair to Larry, both live fuller lives today.

Sheila came to Woody's Aug. 8, 1968, suffering from Friedreich's Ataxia, a disease of the nervous system which gradually saps muscle coordination.

AT THE TIME, she was 17, and looking forward to graduating from high school.

A homebound teacher from the Romulus school system helped her reach the end, and Sheila took up poetry writing in her spare time. According to her admirers, she became quite proficient.

But, the disease took away her ability to handle a pen and pencil, and her pass-time stopped. Sheila needed a typewriter to carry on her work.

Two visitors in "shut-in ministry," from the Calvary Baptist Church, Mrs. George Martin and Lois Morgan, heard of Sheila's plight, and worked to secure her a typewriter.

THROUGH LETTERS, they got the R.B. Calbillo Company of Detroit to donate an electric typewriter.

Larry was admitted to Woody's April 14, 1965, the victim of Muscular Dystrophy.

At the time, he was determined to learn to read and write, even though the Romulus school system felt it was inadvisable to send a visiting teacher, because Larry was considered retarded, according to reports.

Although the school system would sanction no official help for Larry, the visiting teachers would leave books with him.

LETTER BY letter, word by word, Larry learned to read, and later to write.

When he conquered his one handicap, he decided to use his skills to conquer another.

Larry wrote letters to all community action groups, in an attempt to get an electric wheelchair. He could only get around the rest home by having someone push his conventional wheelchair.

LAST JANUARY, the Dearborn Rotary Club heard of his plight, and purchased the chair.

Today Larry gets around so well that he has taken a job at a small manufacturing concern across the street from the rest home.

Easter Seal summer camp opens at Inkster center

Summer vacation may be boring for most kids, but for 60 physically handicapped youngsters, today marked the start of a rewarding, educational and fun-filled summer as the annual Summer Day Camp for Crippled Children, operated by the Wayne County Easter Seal Society, opened its 1973 session.

Marie Neu, Michigan's 1973 Junior Miss and Earl Morral, quarterback for the Miami Dolphins and an honorary Easter Seal chairman, were invited to help the campers and staff begin their summer program with a festive touch.

The eight week camp, which is operated on the grounds of the Easter Seal Center in Inkster, will run through July 31 for youngsters 5 to 12 years followed with a two weeks session in August for crippled teenagers.

THE CAMP is designed to help maintain the skills of the participants developed during the regular school year and provides a means for the youngsters to keep active during the summer months.

The key aim of the camp is to offer a variety of activities geared toward assisting the individual camper in developing strong character, contributing to the better use of leisure time and become as

Solventol declares dividend

The board of directors of Solventol Chemical Products, Inc. of Romulus have declared a five per cent stock dividend as the results of "excellent" earnings for the first six months of this year.

In a statement to shareholders, Robert W. Huffman, president, expressed satisfaction with the company's performance and looked to continued growth. After deductions for taxes net earnings per common share were 15½ cents.

Solventol Chemical produces industrial, commercial and institutional detergents, waxes and other cleaning agents. Approximately 70 per cent of sales are to the automotive industry.

In meeting this goal the teens help plan their own activities which include nature study, music, art, dramatics, athletics, crafts and special events also play an important part of camping activities, with field trips ranging from visiting a farm or museum to watching a Detroit Lion's practice session.

THIS IS THE fifth year as camp director for George Winfield, a Wyandotte special education teacher. Assisting him is the Easter Seal staff and other highly skilled teachers, with added help from 30 teenage and college student volunteers.

The Wayne County Easter Seal Society this year is also sending 25 children to Camp Grace Bentley, a two-week residential camp for orthopedic and cardiac children, operated by the Michigan League for Crippled Children in Jeddah, Mich.

At the opening ceremonies, Hugh Allan Hodges, executive director of the Wayne County Easter Seal Society, summed up the campers excitement for the camp when he noted that "This camp means as much as Christmas to the kids who attend. It is through the generous efforts of all our kind contributors who make such a worthwhile project possible."

7 person runs on Troutt ticket

The seven persons running with former Romulus Township Supervisor and state senator Terry Troutt in his attempt to change the city administration and the present council, said they would file for office.

The seven, Gary Bingamen clerk candidate, John Lewkowicz, treasurer candidate and Richard E. Butz, Joan A. Lee, Jack H. Trumble, Robert H. Martin and Lnnng Coleman, all council candidates, have varied backgrounds and no prior public elected positions on their record.

Bingamen, 27, of 35511 Stephanie St., is a member of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce and is director of sales and food and beverage manager for the Sheraton Metro Inn.

HE SAID of his candidacy: "Changes in Romulus are mandatory."

"We're 10 years behind the times, as I realized after spending three years away from home in the Army."

"I discovered in that time that nothing really has been done to improve Romulus."

"We don't even have a shopping center, or a major supermarket, or even a theater in Romulus. We have to go outside Romulus for any of these services, and these are facts that can't be ignored any longer."

A GRADUATE of Oakland University and a former sergeant in the Army in Vietnam, where he served until wounded in 1968, Bingamen did not specify how, as a clerk, he could bring in the needed services, but said the city would benefit from the development.

"Projections indicate that 35 million people a year will be passing this way through the airport by 1980, but Romulus has nothing to offer them."

"They will have to be serviced by Detroit, and other adjacent communities, if we don't do something about this matter quickly. If we don't have the foresight to build and accommodate this growth, Romulus will continue to lose out."

Lewkowicz, a member of the city's board of canvassers, was chairman of Romulus Community Schools.

He is a former member of the Romulus Township Water Commission and is treasurer of the Romulus Democratic Club.

HE IS a union negotiator and chairman of UAW Local 174 for the past 25 years. He is a treasurer of the Romulus Kiwanis Club and has been active in the Boy Scouts.

Employed at the North American International Timkin Division for the past 32 years, Lewkowicz, 55, lives at 36723 Grant Rd. He is the father of eight children.

"My main concern is to protect the interest of the homeowner in Romulus," he said.

Butz is president of the Romulus Democratic Club. He is a veteran of World War II, serving in the Navy, and had held numerous union offices, including Detroit Building Trades Council delegate, negotiating team member and recording secretary.

A RESIDENT of 38061 Walnut Dr., Butz has lived in Romulus for the past six years with his wife, Mary, and three children.

Mrs. Lee, 28, is a certified school teacher, having taught in both parochial and public schools since her graduation from Wayne State University.

She lives at 28433 Cherry St., she has become involved in cleaning up the vacant HUD homes in her subdivision. Her campaign, started nearly two years ago, has led her to research nearly all real estate laws for Michigan, she said.

"One of the most essential things we need in Romulus," is a responsive government which will listen to the citizens' complaints and problems and do something about them," she added.

SHE AND her husband, Robert, are the parents of a two-year-old girl.

"I want to see many of this generation's problems in Romulus eliminated for the sake of our children's generation," she said.

Jack Trumble, a member of the Romulus Board of Review, said: "We have an enthusiastic team with young blood and great ideas for Romulus which are long past due. Toward that goal, we must work together to get progress here."

A former member of the Romulus Zoning Advisory Board, Trumble is public relations officer for the Romulus Democratic Club and a city precinct delegate.

HE HAS served on the Romulus Township Fire and Police Safety Commission and was an officer of the Sheet Metal Credit Union.

He and his wife, Jacqueline, have four children. The family lives at 28305 Goddard Rd.

Martin, 5533 Essex, is a Marathon Oil Company dealer at 9234 S. Wayne Rd. He has been president of the UPW-CIO Local 988 for five years and is a member of the Moose Lodge and the Knights of Columbus in Wayne.

COLEMAN, 32, has been a Romulus resident since 1952. A graduate of the University of Detroit, Coleman is a teaching fellow at Oakland University.

He has been active in homes for the aged and child care, and claims to be interested in greater service to Romulus' senior citizens and youth.

A member of the Romulus Democratic Club, Coleman also is on the Kiwanis Club executive board.

Recent Laurence Tech graduate to seek council

A recent graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology is eyeing a spot on the Romulus City Council.

John M. Kruszko, 23, has filed for the Aug. 7 primary election, promising to clean up Romulus, hear the people and to be independent of political pressure.

"I am seeking the position on the Romulus City Council," he said "because in the last three years, the present administration has not done their jobs and I know I can do a better job."

A LIFE-LONG resident of Romulus, Kruszko is a 1968 graduate of Romulus High School, and holds a degree in construction engineering.

He is employed at Display and Exhibit Company in Wayne as a construction specialist, and is a free-lance photographer.

Kruszko said he would implement a more effective violation department if elected, while opening new lines of communication and "going against the old order of

JOHN M. KRUSZKO

Office to "personally hear what is on the minds of the people of Romulus."

"I feel this is one of the many ways that I could effectively act as a city councilman," he said.

He added: "A city councilman must act and vote on city issues as an independent, not because fellow councilmen or the mayor are good friends or members of a certain clique or political group and wants to pass issues for their own benefit or interests."

Council candidate Richard Butz from the Troutt team said the program was long overdue. "We're behind all other communities in recreation," he said. "And not because we can't afford it. "We can afford it better than any community I know of."

Another council candidate on the ticket added: "In my portion of a survey, I found that parents are extremely concerned about their children's recreational needs and I agree with them. They have nothing now."

SHE ADDED that "idle time could be a destructive factor for our children."

Candidate Robert Martin said: "I have two children, and most people I have talked with agree that we need recreational facilities for the young people. That's the most important thing we need, the parents told me."

Candidate Lnnng Coleman added: "I'm in complete agreement with Troutt. I can't think of a greater deterrent to crime than to have this recreational program to fill the wasted time of our youths."

"Romulus has been terribly lagging in doing something for the kids of this city. We should all get behind this recreation program and get it started."

Bauman files petition to run for city council

Barry Baumann, 22, has filed petitions to run for the city council in the Romulus Aug. 7 primary election.

A life-long resident of Romulus, Baumann claims: "I don't think the present councilmen have citizens in the first place."

"They are out for what they can get."

"THE BICKERING at the meetings, instead of using common sense in decision-making can only hurt the citizens of Romulus."

A 1972 graduate of St. Mary's College in Orchard Lake, Bauman has long been active in politics.

In 1969, at the age of 18, he organized the national "Students for Muskie for President in 1972" campaign from the St. Mary's College base. Even before Muskie announced his intention to run for the presidency, Baumann's group had more than 4,000 members.

At the time Muskie dropped out of the campaign in 1972,

Baumann switched allegiances to George Wallace, running as a precinct delegate and attending both the county and state conventions for Wallace.

BESIDES HIS involvement in presidential politics, Baumann served as a campus coordinator for Sen. Philip Hart in 1970, worked on the campaign of Sander Levin for governor in that year and campaigned for State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) in Faust's most recent campaign.

In the Faust campaign, Baumann served as one of the two principal organizers in the Romulus area.

He is a member of the Romulus Democratic Club, serving as a member to the executive board for both the local organization and in the 15th District Democratic organization.

HE ALSO IS active as a Little League coach.

Among the changes Baumann promises if elected to council are a more coordinated development of Romulus, by filling the vacant industrial coordinator position; more recreation programs, and more planning for community development.

"I will run independent of any slate in the election," Baumann said. "I want to come in as a fresh person, so by running with a group, though it is politically expedient, I will harm myself. It's hypocritical to offer freshness and to go with old warhorses."

Bauman said he has been offered a position on the slates of both Mayor Hyle Carmichael and challenger Terry Troutt.

Township appeals tax factor dispute

The supervisor objects to this saying that 20 per cent of the township's land during the last seven years has been turned over to the Michigan State Highway Department and in the development of the Lower Huron Metropolitan Park (5,000 acres of the township's 24,000 acres).

The SAV property assessment and SAV factor are too high to be justified under present conditions in the land valuations in the township, Moore said.

HE ADDED that under present procedures, the township has five days to appeal the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation report which is sent to the state tax commission.

"This is not enough time to properly make an appeal," he added.

Moore said Township Atorney Richard James, State Reps. Gary M. Owen of Ypsilanti and Edward E. Mahalak of Romulus are "watching developments" and will be called upon to seek corrective measures.

'Story of political payroll-padding'

Blitz inquiry may shape-up civil service

By DON HOENSHELL, Lansing Bureau Chief

LANSING — Political armorers for a legislative investigation of the state's civil service system have stacked the cannonballs with care and the gun sights have been zeroed in. It could be a long war and both sides will wonder forever who won and who lost if, indeed, the decision is that clear.

Rep. Bobby D. Crim, D-Davison, majority floor leader and chairman of the investigating committee, made public the framework of his inquiry, which indicates he will try for a blitz.

If he gets the answers he seeks, the findings will unveil a story of political payroll-padding, midnight examinations and a slovenly disregard for a system started in 1941 to base state jobs on merit.

BUT, ASSUMING the most detailed and clear answers, there is nothing Crim or the legislature can do except to place before the voters a proposed constitutional amendment to change civil service.

The legislature doesn't even have the clout of the purse strings over civil service. That agency gets one per cent of the state payroll as its budget and the more people hired, the more money it gets.

An investigation had to happen, however. Arthur J. Rasch, the state's first civil service director, kept reminding lawmakers that they couldn't touch his office.

HIS SUCCESSOR, Franklin DeWald, was a caretaker director and got into very few controversies. Then came Sidney Singer, the present occupant, who made waves starting in June, 1971, and brought on the Crim investigation.

Crim's prospectus is loaded with dynamite, one stick of which is lashed to the intriguing fact of "Status 8" employees, of which there were 911 a year ago.

These are people at all levels, mainly high-ranking jobs, who are not required to take an examination, are listed as part of the classified service but have no tested qualifications.

The special status was created years ago to provide parttime jobs for college students on the theory that upon graduation they would stay in state government to make a career.

But like others of its kind, Status 8 has been manipulated and abused to make room for political pals who need a paycheck and who might or might not meet qualifications required in an examination.

CRIM WANTS to find out about the practice of late examinations, how they scored, where they work, how many were given jobs over the heads of others on a civil service register, why late examinations are given — in short, how the "lates" were favored over the regular civil servants.

The committee wants to dig into the practice of provisional appointments, people given jobs pending examinations. Some stay on the payroll for years without taking an examination.

It was found that Gov. William G. Milliken had between 52 and 109 provisionals on his own staff. Singer suggested a study of the propriety of this many and Milliken's top staffers pledged their cooperation — an implied concession of something funny.

CRIM SAID it shouldn't be difficult for Singer to come up with this information since most or all of the answers are already in the department's examination section.

Crim wants comparative statistics on the number of provisionals on the staffs of former Govs. John B. Swainson, a Democrat, and George Romney, a Republican.

It won't take a computer to discover that the executive office increased its staff many-fold after Swainson.

"It is the intention of this committee to thoroughly explore the critical questions raised and the damaging allegations commonly circulated about the operations...which appear to have unfortunately compromised the integrity of the state merit system," Crim said.

You may find when you see the whites of their examinations, Gridley.

The hotdog dilemma

Michigan must uphold high meat standards

Congressman William D. Ford's continuing efforts to save Michigan's meat standards may see light yet—to the delight of hotdog lovers.

Why all the fuss over Michigan's right to retain high "hotdog meat standards," could be answered that the old frankfurter is linked with another American pastime — baseball.

The 15th District Western Wayne County representative informed The Enterprise Roman this week that hearings on his legislation to protect Michigan's meat laws have been scheduled for early next month.

The congressman refers to the hearings as "a significant first step in getting legislation enacted into law."

The hotdog dilemma centers around a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling which will require Michigan to lower its standards governing the ingredients of hotdogs, sausages and lunch meats to conform with less stringent Federal standards.

Ford's efforts, if successful, would change the Federal law to permit states to enact and enforce regulations higher than the minimum federal standards.

Since Ford introduced his meat standard bill, statements of support have come from various groups endorsing his proposal; including the Michigan Department of Agriculture, the Michigan Farm Bureau, the Michigan Jaycees and the Jaycee Auxiliary, and the Consumer Federation of America.

The Enterprise-Roman joins the list and calls upon concerned citizens of Western Wayne County to join the campaign to preserve Michigan's high meat standards.

We'd like to see the congressman armed with cartons of supporting mail from Canton Township, Wayne, Inkster, Garden City and Westland.

The hearings on Ford's proposed legislation will be conducted by the House Livestock and Grain Subcommittee in Washington on July 10 — so you've got time to write your congressman and give him the support he needs to protect the state's meat ingredient standards.

South Africa's race policy 'has been exploited'

By JOHN P. McGOFF, President
Panax Corporation
(Last of a 10-part Series)

Kruger National Park in South Africa defies formality. In a way it is almost like Michigan's Upper Peninsula. It is a place for casual dress and frank conversation. During the weekend that my wife Marge and I spent with our friends Les and Pat de Villiers in this famous wildlife sanctuary, we hardly needed an assist to informality. We first met the de Villiers in the States some years ago where Les was Director of the South African Information Service for five years, and we have become rather close friends since.

Thinking about Kruger Park and the Upper Peninsula as being similar in a certain way was strange. After all, we have lots of water in the U.P. Fewer animals. Snow in the winter. And in Kruger the air has an almost dry tinge to it. At night the sky glitters brightly and thousands of crickets sing in natural chorus.

How did it feel returning to South Africa after having lived in the United States for so many years? I asked Les one night as we continued a conversation ranging from the animals we saw that day to world affairs.

"IN A WAY IT FELT like crossing the state line," he said. "Almost like moving from Michigan to Indiana. Some years ago an American journalist wrote that driving from Jan Smuts Airport to the centre of Johannesburg, he felt as if he had never left home. The cars, the billboards, the buildings, and the pace impressed him as being American."

"I think he looked at our similarities in a superficial fashion. He left out the most important common denominator, namely, the people themselves."

Pick any farmer in your midwest, and I'll find his double in South Africa. Show me a business executive from any city in the U.S.A., and I will show you his duplicate out here. Name me any politician in America, and I'll come up with his twin brother in this part of the world.

"To those who have read up on the early beginnings of our two countries this similarity in national character or people potential is not strange at all. We were both discovered by men from Iberia — Columbus and Diaz. The same Dutch East India Company which wormed itself into America by way of New York, or New Amsterdam, established a settlement at Cape Town, South Africa. In both parts of the world the French played a prominent role and eventually came the British take-over.

"THE AMERICAN SPIRIT of independence in 1776 had its counterpart in South Africa. Encouraged by the success of their brethren out there, the New Worlders in this part of the world also showed resistance to both the Dutch and English colonial bosses — and eventually won their freedom. The Dutch, French, British, German, Swedes, and Italians — these are some of the important strains in your make-up and ours. The same actors, only the decor is different."

"What do you mean by a different decor?" I asked.

"Oh, several things. Our backdrop is African and so are our problems. Take, for example, our respective so-called racial problems. Despite attempts by some to equate our two situations and to prescribe the same remedy, we do find ourselves not only with completely different decors, but actually two different stages."

"IN THE UNITED STATES white and black Americans share the same culture, speak the same language, and are bound together by a single national consciousness."

In South Africa there is no single prevailing culture. No less than ten major 'mother tongue' languages are spoken and even among the blacks themselves there is hardly anything like a common sense of nationhood. It stands to reason therefore that despite our common European heritage we simply have to differ in our approach to these problems in Africa and America. You've opted for integration. We prefer separate and parallel development. The one policy is not better than the other. They are both simply the best answers we could come up with on two sides of the Atlantic to cope with vastly different problems."

Les de Villiers, now Head of the Foreign Division of the Department of Information in Pretoria, contended that this difference in race policy has been exploited to the hilt by those who would wish to see the United States actively supporting the "down with South Africa at any cost" campaign. Operating under the pretext that South Africa can only be accepted "morally" if and when it embraces a policy of integration, these pressure groups have tried to sever contacts in all fields — political, cultural, economical, military, and even in the field of sport.

"THESE ARE THE SAME people who condone partition and separate autonomies for the Jew and the Arab in the Middle East and the Hindu and the Moslem on the sub-continent of India. Yet, when it comes to South Africa, partition and separate autonomies for eight major black (or Bantu) nations and a white nation, it becomes immoral, repugnant, and abhorrent."

"You are not implying that the majority of Americans are against South Africa because of your policy of apartheid or separate development?" I enquired.

"Far from it," came the reply. "The anti-South African opinion in the United States mostly consists of what I would prefer to call professional agitators. A small minority, they nevertheless had a degree of success in bedeviling relations because they have always been quite active and very vociferous on this issue at universities, scholarly and semi-scholarly organizations, labor unions, civil rights organizations, and in churches."

"What do you think American policy towards South Africa should be?"

"Far be it from South Africa to prescribe to the United States what her policies towards Africa or South Africa should or must be. The U.S. must formulate its own foreign policy on the basis of her own self-interest. All that we expect from America or any other nation is the right to proceed with our own internal policies without outside interference."

We talked about two world wars where America and South Africa fought side by side, the Korean War where they were allies and the Berlin Airlift where South Africa assisted with aircraft and manpower. I learned that South Africa is one of only a very few countries which have repaid its war debts in full. It is a country with which we have a favorable trade balance of almost a million dollars a day. A country that has never asked for or accepted American foreign aid.

U.S. INVESTMENT in South Africa is big. The more than three hundred American companies involved represent a blue chip list of American industry. One of the first was Ford.

"Henry Ford sold his new-fangled contraptions out here as early as 1905," said Les de Villiers. "Perhaps one should also mention Will Rogers as one of the early entrepreneurs. At the turn of the century he accompanied a shipment of cattle from Texas and decided to stay for a while. He started his illustrious career in South Africa at Texas Jack's Circus at thirty bucks a week. Not bad for those days."

"Now getting back to where we started. How does it feel, settling back here after all those years in the United States?"

"It feels good," he said, "as good as returning home from a very pleasant visit at your friend's house. The United States is a close second best in my book and I would at least expect you to accord South Africa the same status in your book after a second extensive visit out here."

Questions decision

To the Editor:

It's a shame for my co-op Wellesley Townhouse Cooperative, to spend $75,735.12 in school taxes in 1972 and in return to receive the kind of poor consideration it has from the Romulus Board of Education.

Many of our children have attended four different schools in the past four school years. My own child, Chris, has been to two different schools in his kindergarten year alone. Next year in first grade he's supposed to go to a third and different school. This kind of treatment towards me, and the rest of the co-op must stop.

We are fortunate that there is an elementary school, Cory, directly across the street. It's less than a five-minute walk to Cory from the furthest point in the co-op. Is it too much to ask to have our kids attend there? I think not.

The basic problem is this...All children who will be attending elementary schools this coming school year have been switched from Cory elementary to another elementary school much farther away.

This was done by the Romulus Board of Education on June 12, 1973 at a closed board meeting. In fact, the decision was so sudden that my own son had his teacher and room assigned to Cory on his report card when he brought it home the following day.

I propose that the Board of Education reconsider its decision to transport the children of Wellesley from the neighborhood school, Cory, to another school; where-ever it may be.

The reasons are simple and practical. Other reasons will be brought out at the June 25 meeting of the Board of Education.

Area fifth graders complete Red Cross first aid course

The fifth graders at Denton Road Elementary School in Belleville have just completed a Red Cross Basic First Aid Course with reported success, announce their instructors.

Under the guidance of teachers Bob Cook and Mrs. Mary Murrel, the students learned fundamental knowledge and skills for "first aiding" in such areas as shock, bleeding, bandaging, broken bones, poisoning, fire and water safety, rescue breathing, burns and rescue techniques.

The course involves individual work from four basic first aid texts and several practices in which the students performed various first aid techniques.

Upon completion, the boys and girls received a registered Red Cross First Aid Certificate valid for three years.

Plant tree in honor of teacher

Mrs. Marguerite Kouba, second grade teacher at the Edgemont Elementary School in Belleville is retiring at the close of the current school year - after serving 21 years in Van Buren Public Schools.

Mrs. Kouba, of 8775 Hannan Rd., Romulus, recently was honored at a breakfast by former and present Edgemont School staff members.

Mrs. Kouba and other retiring teachers were also recognized at a tea sponsored by the Van Buren Education Association (VBEA).

In honor of Mrs. Kouba's "dedicated" years of service, the school's Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) planted a tree on the school grounds. The tree, a scarlet Hawthorne, is one of five trees planted in recent years to honor Edgemont School's retiring teachers.

Big time rodeo

Cowboys and Cowgirls coming to Belleville

The thrills and excitement of a professional championship rodeo will soon fill the Belleville area.

Sponsored by the Huron Valley Conservation Association, the National Championship Rodeo will be held July 6-8 at the 4-H Fairgrounds located on Quirk Road near Belleville.

At last year's rodeo, 75 of the top cowboys and cowgirls in the United States competed for $3,500 in prize money during the three-day event. The number one all-around cowboy in the nation, Jack Wiseman, had to settle for second place prize money in bullriding. He was defeated by Ken Soule, a Michiganian cowboy. Soule's score of 77 earned him $257 for his eight second ride.

The association attracts some of the nation's top rodeo performers by adding top prize money. This year, they are "sweetening" the pot by an additional $800 to insure a highly competitive program.

All of the rodeo events, Bareback Bronc Riding, Saddle Bronc Riding, Calf Roping, Steer Wrestling, Bull Riding and Girls' Barrel Racing will be seen at each of the three performances.

This year's rodeo is being held on Friday and Saturday, July 6-7, at 8 p.m. and on Sunday, July 8, at 2 p.m. Advance tickets are available at Hoot's Boots Shoe Store in Belleville and Off the Road Campers in Flat Rock.

HuronHigh offers band program

A summer band program will be offered again this year at Huron High School in New Boston.

The free of charge program will begin on Wednesday, June 27 and continue through Friday, Aug. 10.

All sessions will be in the band room in the morning. Schedules will be distributed to students this week. Students are urged by school officials to take part.

Rev. Loyd speaks in Sumpter

The Rev. Joseph E. Loyd, assistant pastor of People's Community Church in Detroit, was Sunday's guest speaker at the Pleasant Valley A.M.E. Church of Sumpter Township.

In addition to Rev. Loyd's "stirring" address on "man's role in living by the guidelines handed down by the Creator," the Detroit church's chancel choir performed with spiritual numbers.

The special Sunday program was chaired by Rev. C. W. Carrington, pastor, and Ruth Murphy and Theresa M. Murphy, special chairwomen.

Spaghetti dinner marks birthday

Among those enjoying the festivities were the honored boy's grandparents, Mary and David Dubisky from Brooklyn and Betty and Frank Harkai of Belleville; as well as his Godparents, Denise Diamond of Detroit and Bob Harkai of Belleville; and great-grandmother Marion Collins from Stanwood.

Other friends and relatives drove in from Southgate, Wyandotte and Monroe.

Eli Terry made more than clocks. He made works of art that told time. Back when Betsy Ross was making the first American flag.

Now, so that more than museums and private collections can have one, we took a grand old example of his exquisite craftsmanship and recreated it. Then we added Europe's three most beautiful cathedral chimes. Westminster. Winchester. Whittington.

The Van Buren Board of Education has approved the colors of scarlet and gray for the new Belleville High School band uniforms.

The board's decision taken at a special board meeting was a reconsideration of a previous action by the school board to change the band uniforms from crimson and gray (present band colors) to black and orange, which are the school colors.

The band had worn the colors of crimson and gray for the last 17 years.

Area man released after death of wife

Sam Celibraise, 48, construction inspector and Belleville resident, arrested by Wayne County Sheriff's deputies in the investigation of the death of his wife, Ruth, 53, has been released.

Dt. Doyle Kendrick said that investigation of the death showed it was an accidental death. The fatal shooting occurred recently in the Celibraise home, located at 111172 Hannan Rd.

Celibraise, in a formal statement to police, said he and his wife thought that they had heard a prowler early Sunday morning. He got his shotgun and began a check of the home.

His wife, who was assisting him, went to the area of the front door. She approached the front door from behind her husband.

Celibraise told police that he saw an image in the vicinity of the front door and fired the shotgun - accidentally striking and killing his wife.

Kendrick said the Celibraises were very close and got along well.

"The investigation failed to show any intent on the part of Celibraise for the shooting," he said.

PERMANENT LIGHTING — The Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds located near Belleville now has permanent area lighting thanks to the Huron Valley Conservation Association. Shown before the newly erected sign are (from left) Martin Elliott, association president, and Rodney Bly, treasurer. The cost of the lighting ($1,600) was raised by the association at the National Championship Rodeo the association sponsored last year.

4-H Fairgrounds gets new lighting for arena

The Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds near the City of Belleville now has permanent arena lighting.

The improvement of the fairgrounds arena area was made possible by the efforts of the Huron Valley Conservation Association of Belleville.

The cost of the lighting, slightly more than $1,600, was raised by the association at the National Championship Rodeo the association sponsored last July.

Rodney Bly of Belleville, treasurer of the association and rodeo chairman, reported that more than 4,000 people turned out to witness the three-day championship rodeo.

Cowboys and cowgirls from all over the United States competed, as well as local contestants.

The J Bar J Rodeo Company, a professional Rodeo Production, brought to Belleville the same rodeo stock it used in the International Finals Rodeo in Tulsa, Okla. It included the top bucking horse of the year, "Nightmare," and the top Brahma bull, "Whirlybird."

Because of the high quality of the rodeo stock, most of the top professional cowboys in the nation traveled to Belleville to participate in the rodeo.

According to Bly, the company was host last year to 11 of the top 15 cowboys in the nation, including Jack Wiseman, the 1972 Champion All-around Cowboy.

This year's Championship Rodeo will again be at the 4-H

Fairgrounds in Belleville, with three shows scheduled.

Evening performances Friday, July 6 and Saturday, July 7, will begin at 8 p.m. A Sunday matinee is slated for 2 p.m.

The J Bar J Rodeo is expected to again contract to bring its championship stock.

Advance 50-cent discount tickets go on sale June 11 at Hoot's Boots Shoe Store in Belleville, Off-the-Road Campers in Flat Rock and from any member of the Huron Valley Conservation Association.

Senator urges investigation of Mental Health Department

State Sen. John E. McCauley (D-Wyandotte) recently introduced a resolution in the state senate calling for the establishment of a special five member Senate Committee to "investigate the policies and programs of the Michigan Department of Mental Health."

McCauley said his action was triggered by the Perry Lee Brown case and similar complaints by public officials and citizens regarding premature release of mental patients by personnel of the mental health department.

"Perry Lee Brown, also known as 'Prophet Sweetlove', had a history of mental difficulties," McCauley said. "This unfortunate man was committed to Northville State Hospital on May 29, 1973, by Wayne County Probate Judge Joseph Pernick. On June 7, 1973, he was released. Hours later he was loose in the Detroit Metro Airport in the midst of a great many people, brandishing a loaded shotgun."

McCauley declared that the Brown incident was not "an isolated case." The Wyandotte Senator said that a number of other allegations have come to his attention, adding, "It appears to me there is reason to believe the department of mental health may not be achieving the objectives envisioned by a majority of the members of the Michigan State Senate."

The proposed special committee would be made up of five members, with the power to subpoena witnesses.

"The Legislature appropriated $218,936,300 for the department of mental health for this fiscal year," McCauley said. "I think it is high time the Senate found out if the people of Michigan are getting their money's worth."

U.S. veterans eligible for benefits

The Veterans Administration has reminded veterans that traveling or taking up residence abroad imposes certain limitations on benefits the agency can provide.

One example is medical care. Only veterans with service connected disabilities at Veterans Memorial Hospital. But veterans with non-service connected disabilities are eligible for treatment on the same basis as in the continental United States — only if space is available, and they are unable to defray care is available to both veterans with service connected disabilities and wartime veterans with nonservice connected disabilities at Veterans Memorial Hospital.

Before going abroad a veteran should obtain from the VA office which has his medical record a statement of his condition, the agency emphasized.

This statement should be presented to the American embassy or consular office in the host country when application is made for VA medical benefits.

In an emergency, however, an eligible veteran is entitled to VA-paid hospitalization if he notifies the embassy or consular office within 72 hours of hospitalization. Notification of out-patient treatment must be made within 15 days.

VA officials also said GI home loans are not available to veterans living in foreign countries, but this restriction does not apply to veterans living in Puerto Rico.

Veterans living outside the United States (except in "blocked" countries) may receive compensation and pension checks, however.

But to insure prompt receipt of checks, veterans traveling or living in foreign countries should, if possible, maintain stateside mailing addresses.

Eligible veterans may attend foreign schools, but only if VA approves them and the courses lead to degrees.

The McDermotts' new Gas water heater just can't say no.

To showering. To dishwashing. To laundering. Anything that calls for hot water gets it—whenver it's needed. Because the McDermotts replaced their old water heater with a new, efficient Gas water heater. And it even operates for less than one third the cost of a comparable electric unit.

Whether your water heater needs replacing or not, you can save Natural Gas (and money, too) if you'll fix leaky hot water faucets promptly; operate your washing machine with capacity loads or use the water level control; use your dishwasher only when it is fully loaded; remember to lower the water heating setting if you used a higher temperature when laundering; and drain a pail of water from the water heater once a month to remove sediment from the tank and increase heating efficiency.

And if your water heater does need replacing, see the new, efficient, Gas-saving, money-saving models at dealers, plumbers or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company business offices.

Joist spacing saves money

Do you want to know how to save from $200 to $400 as you build your new house? Space those floor joists and wall studs 50 per cent farther apart — at 24 inches instead of 16.

The National Association of Home Builders has proved the savings and now urges this simple change nationwide. The lumber industry also supports the idea, though it means using less wood per dwelling, reports the Western Wood Products Association, Portland, Ore.

All four of the major building code agencies, and the Federal Housing Administration, accept 24-inch spacing for floor joists, wall studs and roof trusses.

BUILDERS who have changed to the wider spacing are gaining in numbers, but probably less than one-third of the more than 80,000 house contractors have done so. The vast majority stick with framing at 16-inch centers, hang the savings.

Why the inertia? First, many local codes still bar use of the 24-inch system. In hundreds of communities, local change is waiting for someone — home buyer or builder — to take the first step.

Most builders have been reluctant to change over, for various reasons. Some don't wish to run the risk of upsetting local code enforcers, or interrupt operations to retrain crews.

Others fear that a competitor down the street will tell prospective buyers that his 16-inch framing looks stronger than their 24-inch, and it does. This problem has vanished in some areas, notably San Francisco and Dallas.

Actually, field tests supervised by the NAHB Research Foundation have proved the wider spacing to be fully adequate. The Mod 24 system requires the next greater thickness of plywood or insulation board to be used as rack-resistant sheathing over the framework.

THE COST reduction of dimension lumber and man-hours outweighs the rise for thicker sheathing by $200 to $400 per house, the NAHB studies showed.

Large builders have found it easier to adopt Mod 24, when they sell from completed models. The savings may be reflected in lower price or such buyer pleasers as appliances, storage or a wood deck.

The smaller builder, however, can realize comparable savings, but it may be up to the home buyer to demand 24-inch spacing before construction starts.

A 16-page booklet, "Mod 24," which explains how the system is applied, is available free from Western Wood Products Assn., Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore. 97204.

Grape pruning

For top yields, horticulturists recommend pruning grapes in February. If vine growth was weak the first year, cut it back to two buds. Cut off dead or broken canes the following year.

Cleaner air cuts costs

A single cubic foot of air in your home can contain as many as 500 million particles of unwanted dust, dirt, ash, pollen, mold spores and smog, and an electronic air cleaner can remove more than 90 per cent of these unwelcome visitors to provide greater personal comfort, reduce the need for household cleaning and cut redecorating costs.

The answer is an electronic air cleaner, an effective, efficient and economical device.

Workshop for gardeners can be built along house

Gardening, to those who attack it with a fervor, means having something growing all the time, and this calls for a comfortable work area available all seasons of the year.

Recognize gas odor for safety

Can your children recognize the odor of natural gas?

Chances are, if you have an automatic gas range or water heater, that your children have never experienced the special "smell" that is added to odorless natural gas as a safety precaution. And chances are they will never be exposed to a gas leak in your home.

However, the gas company wants everyone to be able to recognize the smell of natural gas — just in case. Perhaps they can send you a sample smell today!

That's right, the gas company may have a sample card impregnated with the smell, or advise you of some other arrangement that will help your children to recognize the distinctive odor of natural gas.

devout green-thumber won't linger out for long on frigid days, but even then a sheltered counter serves well for quick repotting of house plants.

A semi-enclosed structure allows the serious gardener to work late into the fall and be outside before the first blooms of spring.

Almost every house has a wall, a jog or a garage where a lean-to-shelter can be added. A breezeway between house and detached garage is a natural area to enclose for garden work and storage.

Simple post and beam construction requires few tools and skills for erecting a garden workshop, and it needn't be large. Translucent plastic roofing admits extra light and one or two walls of horizontal wood slats allow free air circulation.

Posts of 4-x-4-inch fir or western cedar can be set in the ground or on concrete footings. Parts of the posts that will be in and near the ground should be preservative-treated.

Counters are built onto the posts, using slightly spaced 2-x-4s for work surfaces. Flooring is wood decking of 2x4-inch fir for easy cleaning, or stepping-stones in a bed of river gravel.

Storage is built in under the counters and a cabinet with lock may be mounted on the wall, for storing sprays and chemicals.

Locating the structure on a water line allows easy installation of a deep tub sink, invaluable to a serious gardener.

If the garden house is near the back door, it also can serve as a mud room where children can clean up before entering the house.

Here's cleaning tips

Americans take to road in camping vehicles

More Americans than ever before are taking to the roads in an assortment of camping and recreational vehicles. While these motor homes, travel trailers and truck campers vary widely in size and shape, they all share a common need this time of year: cleaning.

"When taking the family camping vehicle out of hibernation, start by cleaning the exterior. A thorough wash, a dab of paint for touch-ups, minor repairs and a check of all vital systems will do the trick," says Jack E. Martens, automotive engineering director for the Allstate Motor Club.

Travel and tent trailers usually need just a quick rinse, while motor homes and pickup campers should be taken to a commercial car wash.

"CAMPERS who clean their own vehicles should wash a small area at a time, wetting the surface first with clear water to remove heavy grit and surface dirt. Then use soapy water and a brush. Rinse with clear water. Silicone or liquid teflon sprayed on the front grill and panels will help remove bugs, tree sap and road film," Martens advises.

Martens suggests the following points to improve and maintain the outside appearance of a camping vehicle:

— Check for rust spots. Sand rusted area, mask off and spray with a combination sealant and touch-up paint. If the surface is stained, use stain killer before painting so the stain won't bleed through.

— Check for dents. Minor body dents can be camouflaged with small louvers or reflectors. Flower decals also make attractive cover-ups. Major body dents should be repaired by professional servicemen.

— Lubricate sticking door hinges and latches with penetrating oil. Replace broken ones.

— OIL ENTRYWAYS steps, and lubricate any roof-raising and bed-sliding mechanisms that bind.

— Replace any broken road reflectors or burned out clearance lights.

— A coat of heavy-duty wax will finish the exterior nicely.

— Wipe out cupboards, closets and drawers with warm water and a mild cleaning agent.

— Use a solution of soda and warm water to clean the refrigerator. If odor persists, use a commercial deodorizing preparation as long as necessary.

— Coat sticking drawer runners with beeswax. Automotive wax applied to rubber window molding will prevent sticking windows.

— USE FOAM cleansers for upholstery and carpeting.

— Drapes should be dry cleaned. If the camper is fairly new, draperies may only need airing out or a quick tumble in an automatic dryer to remove light dust.

— Use a cleaner to wipe down molded bathroom walls, basin and stools. Never use harsh cleansers on fiberglass walls or fixtures.

"When dealing with the component systems of a camper — water systems, generator and air conditioner — refer to an owners manual. It is a good source of technical maintenance information and tips," Martens advises.

IN GENERAL, water lines and storage tanks should be flushed thoroughly by running water into tanks and through lines with sink and bathroom faucets left open for about 10 minutes. This will flush out foreign particles and any anti-freeze solution that may have been used to prevent winter freeze-up.

"It also is a good idea to fill water tanks and leave overnight to check for leaks," Martens recommended. "Motor home generators or alternators also deserve a spring check-out. Put in new engine drain plugs. Use fresh oil and water in the crankcase of both the stationary

Cavanagh speech is canceled

If former Detroit mayor Jerome Cavanagh's bid for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is dependent on chamber of commerce support, he's in for a rough time. The onetime mayor was scheduled to address six area chambers at a noon luncheon today at the Hilton Inn in Romulus, but the program was canceled yesterday when the sponsoring Romulus chamber unit found only 60 reservations had been submitted. Dining facilities for 200 had been reserved at the Hilton.

The meeting was open to

chamber members from Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Taylor and Belleville. A Romulus chamber spokesman said: "We hope at a later date to ask Mr. Cavanagh to come back to the area..."

Jehovah's Witnesses plan conventions

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York plans a series of international conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses in 1973.

Spokesman Harvey P. Bourke, presiding minister of the Belleville congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, said 95 local members are attending the convention scheduled for Tiger Stadium in Detroit today through June 24.

Other meetings in the United States are planned for Yankee Stadium in New York, White Sox Park in Chicago, Dodger Stadium in New York, White Sox Park in California, Astrodome in Houston, Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh, Royals Stadium in Kansas City, Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia, Atlanta Stadium and Gulfstream Race Track near Miami.

BOURKE said six Spanish-language conventions also are scheduled for the United States. All meetings are set for June and July.

Internationally, five conventions have been arranged for Canada, 12 in Europe, five in Asia, 17 in South and Central America, three in the South Pacific and seven in Africa during 1973.

Hartwick Pines Park offers hiking, fishing

The saga of Michigan's early lumber days and camping go hand in hand at Hartwick Pines State Park, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The park, seven miles northeast of Grayling on M-93, contains 9,138 acres, including some 80 acres of virgin white pine and hemlock, the last remaining stand in the Lower Peninsula.

Camping, history, hiking, fishing and canoeing are offered in this park.

BESIDES the towering trees, an attraction in themselves, a kitchen mess hall, workshop, logging wheels, chains and a museum remind visitors of the lumbering in this area in the last half of the 19th century.

Some nine miles of hiking trails, not all of them marked, wander through the woods. One of the best-known leads to the unique chapel in the pines which offers a solitude all its own.

Fishing is excellent, since the AuSable River, one of the state's famed trout streams, runs through the park.

THE AU SABLE is equally popular for canoeing.

Although one of the smaller state parks with 46 modern campsites, it attracted 163,879 persons last year with 4,833 permits issued, making it one of the most popular in the Lower Peninsula from the standpoint of usage.

Hartwick Pines State Park was named for Maj. Edward E. Hartwick, who died of illness in World War I. His widow purchased the property in 1929 and gave it to the state. The park was dedicated in 1935.

If Hartwick Pines State Park campground should be full, other state parks in the vicinity include Higgins Lake State Park North and South, with 203 and 506 campsites respectively; Otsego Lake Park, 201 campsites and Rifle River Recreation Area, 128 campsites.

THERE ALSO are five privately operated campgrounds in the Grayling area. Prices range from $2.50 to $5.50 a night.

Area attractions include the Fred Bear Museum on M-93, two miles west of Grayling, with extensive collections of trophy game animals from India, Africa and North America, shot by bow and arrow; the Grayling Fish Hatchery, in Grayling; the Call of the Wild Museum in Gaylord, near the silver blue water tower, adjacent to I-75; Camp Grayling National Guard reservation, west of Grayling on Lake Margrethe, open to the public; and rides on the Little Smokey scenic steam train, a mile and a half west of Grayling, or cruises on the Nora Lee Paddleboat, which operates on the AuSable River in Grayling.

PIPPY'S PLAYING — Inger Nilsson, with able support from her pet monkey, Mr. Nilsson, stars in the title role of "Pippi Longstocking," the family film which opens today at the State-Wayne Theatre. The eight-year-old, freckle-faced redhead is considered by many as the logical successor to Shirley Temple as queen of the child stars.

Robert W. Jones, an instructor and resident composer at Schoolcraft, currently is spending two weeks as a resident artist at the prestigious MacDowell Colony in Peterborough, New Hampshire.

PIANO instructor Donald Morelock is in Austria, studying with master teachers at the Vienna Conservatory of Music and preparing for a solo recital which he will present at the college next spring.

Vocal music instructor Bradley Bloom is at the world-famous Interlochen Music Camp in Northern Michigan this summer where he is directing symphonic choirs.

All but Bloom will be back on campus for Schoolcraft's seventh annual summer music school and festival July 2-27.

A 'campus' special

Michigan opens its doors

Vacationers to Michigan's north country this year are being beckoned to spend a week of family fun and relaxation on the campus of Northern Michigan University, only a few hundred yards from the shores of Lake Superior.

"NMU's Summer Family Camp is open to all," said George Tomasi, director of the camp. "We will be scheduling four different weeks in June, July and August to enable visitors to this area to enjoy some of the good life in the Upper Peninsula."

The camp is planned for the weeks of June 24-30, July 1-7, Aug. 5-11 and 12-18.

Visitors will stay on campus in modern one- or two-room suites with connecting bath. Meals will be tastefully prepared and served from Northern's campus kitchens. Linens, blankets, mini-refrigerator, ice and free laundry facilities also are provided.

Rates for one week are $60 for adults, $40 for teenagers (13 thru 18), $25 for children (6 thru 12). Children through age 5 are free.

"With the program we have planned — optional, of course — and with the things to do in the Marquette area, the week can be as busy or relaxed as you could ask for," Thomas said. "There is easy access to boating, fishing, golf, hiking, rock hunting, water skiing and more. On campus we will have archery, badminton, bowling, ping-pong, pool, swimming, tennis, volleyball, and there will be supervised children's activities. For the evening, or as required we will assist in arranging for qualified babysitters."

Reunion planned

The St. Mary of Redford High School Class of '48 is holding their 25th class reunion at Mercy College Conference Center, Sept. 29. Anyone wishing further details may contact Tom Barry (274-8159) or Paul Thompson (474-8447).

NO IT ISN'T A FALSE ALARM — Belleville's Fire Department recently responded to a fire run to the Town and Country Restaurant, Fourth and Main Streets, Belleville. What at first appeared to be a false alarm turned out to a smoldering fire in an electric fuse box at the rear of the restaurant. Fire Chief Tony Talaga said matter was taken care by pulling the master switch.

Outdoor living calls for the 'quiet place'

Today's home architecture, and the communities in which homes are built, the pace of life of the people who live in those homes, and the quality of the environment surrounding them all call for a new approach to outdoor living.

The nursery growers, garden centers and landscape firms which make up the American Association of Nurserymen are studying this, and have come up with a new "outdoor room" to meet what they identify as an important need. They call it the "quiet place."

The working man or woman comes home from a noisy, smelly, tense world with a need for quiet, fresh air, peace of mind, and comfort. When the weather is at all acceptable, these should be found outdoors; but, too often, the outside part of the home is not designed to provide them.

Many homes these days are built with a concrete slab somewhere at the back which is intended to serve as a patio. With some imagination and a bit of plantings, it can be made into a useful additional room to add to the home — a party place.

But seldom does it serve as the place for retreat or intimate conversations today's hectic pace makes necessary. Thus, the development of the new outdoor room: the quiet place.

Depending on the decorative bent of the family, or the creativeness of the garden center or landscape designer, the "quiet place" may take on any number of shapes and sizes and decorative approaches. Common ingredients will be a "sight and sound" barrier of shrubs

Fire calls answered

Fifteen fire calls were answered by the Van Buren Township Fire Department No. 1 in May.

The fire runs were: two junk yard fires, three grass fires, three car fires, three house fires, one resuscitator run and one false alarm.

The department also reported an assistance run and trees, splashes of color provided by flower plants and trees, a couple of comfortable outdoor chairs or lounges, and, sometimes, a birdbath or fountain to add nature's music to the mini-environment.

The important element in the planning of a "quiet place," the American Association of Nurserymen says, is that it provide the small and private outdoor room for the home — the place where one or two or three tired and busy people can relax in a healthful atmosphere, in beauty, in release from the noise of traffic and industry, and in privacy.

Van Buren Township delays action on kennel licenses

Van Buren Township Board of Trustees have delayed formal action of pending applications for kennel licenses until written reports from neighborhood surveys have been submitted to the township board. At last week's board session, Trustee Fred Domen requested that the board delayed action on pending applications until such reports are received by the township. The trustees tabled a resolution from the Wayne County Treasurer's office to request the State Department of Conservation to withhold from auction sale of the state-acquired properties in the municipality and enable the owner to apply for reconveyance. The township attorney is to make a recommendation.

County surveys area rodent control

The Wayne County Health Department is conducting a comprehensive block-by-block rodent control survey of Romulus beginning today.

The survey was given the support of the city council on May 7, which encourages local citizens to support and cooperate with the survey control crews.

Several rat complaints have been received from residents in Romulus, and it was decided that an overall survey would be more effective in pinpointing problem areas for future baiting programs rather than attempting to deal with individual complaints.

The survey will reveal exterior conditions that attract rats — such as available food supplies — and provide them with conditions that afford shelter, such as abandoned cars, piles of debris and lumber, or dilapidated buildings.

Area residents will be contacted during the survey, however additional information may be obtained by calling 721-0200 or 274-2800, ext. 6842 or 6848 weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Search continues for 3 head coaches

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Three key coaching positions - two at Romulus High - remain available, but school officials feel that "they will be filled as soon as possible."

The head football and basketball coaching jobs are open at Romulus, while Belleville High continues its search for a head basketball coach.

Romulus' head grid coach Bill Hardy resigned to accept an assistant football coaching job with Grand Valley State College, while the Eagles' head basketball coach, Dave Court, reportedly will not reapply for the job.

Court, who in his three years as head coach became one of the more successful basketball coaches in the school's history, verbally told Ed Baum, the athletic director, that he wasn't interested in the cage position.

"We have a system here at Romulus High whereby a coach must reapply for his job each year," explained Baum, "and Dave told me verbally that he wasn't going to come back."

"The job therefore has been posted and we already have several candidates for it," Baum said. "Needless to say we want to fill the basketball as well as the football positions as soon as possible and with the best men available."

HARDY, a former University of Michigan griddier, handled the Eagles for one year before deciding upon the move to college competition. His team compiled a 5-4 record last year.

"Bill did a fine job for us in his first and only year as head coach," said Baum, "and he resigned to take an assistant coaching job with a college team, and that's one step up the ladder in the coaching profession."

"We wish him all luck in the world," Baum added. If Court leaves the school system, then the tennis coaching position will also open up. He handled that job for one season. Meanwhile, the search to fill the head basketball coaching job at Belleville has been narrowed down to five candidates, according to Harry Hidenfelter, the athletic director.

"We have been very busy interviewing prospective candidates," said Hidenfelter, "and I feel we have come down to five men who appear to have the credentials."

"A COUPLE of these men are out-of-staters, therefore, it will take some time for us to finish all the interviewing, but I am confident we will have our candidate soon."

OTHER KEY area coaching jobs that must be filled include the head basketball coaching position at Robichaud in Dearborn Heights and the head baseball coaching position at Garden City East High.

At Robichaud, Owen Sudman bowed out at the end of last year's season, saying he wanted to spend more time with his family.

At East High veteran baseball strategist John Kulazanka handed in his resignation after serving as head coach for 21 years.

That new image here is old me

By TOM MOORADIAN

When the boss sez, "We want a better picture of you for the column," he apparently doesn't realize that what time has etched on one's face, one man can erase.

But, what the boss sez, you do. So, I went out to find me the best possible photographer in these parts and the result is that image you'll find on the top of this column.

A relaxed Bob Dropp, who apparently has left the 1973 Tri-River Conference baseball scars behind him, wants to get us off "the hook."

And, anytime anyone wishes to lend me a helping hand, I'm all ears.

The Garden City West High mentor suggests that "If we can't have an All-Area baseball tournament, then why not get the coaches together and let them decide who should make your team?"

"I can see where one or two persons picking the team would have problems," added Dropp, "by calling the coaches together and asking them to select the team it would take you off the hook."

APPARENTLY DROPP has "suicidal tendencies". For, getting me off the hook would inevitably place him and the other coaches there.

"We see one another enough during the season to know just about who has what," Dropp went on to say, "and, though there will be difficulties, it would not be your problem."

"If a coach gets upset because his player didn't make the team he will get upset at the other coaches who didn't vote for his candidate and not at the newspaper."

"A year ago one of my boys didn't make one of the area newspapers' team, and I was so mad that I couldn't sleep. But I wasn't mad at the sports editor, but at the coaches who didn't pick my player," Dropp said.

"These things will happen, but, for all those concerned, the best way I feel to pick such teams would be to ask the area coaches to get together and then let them select the team," Dropp added.

It seems like a reasonable suggestion. In fact, if we can get the coaches together I will even offer to buy the soda pop - red pop, of course.

Dropp wasn't through with me yet.

"Who in heavens gave you the Tri-River Conference baseball selections that you printed in the newspaper a couple of days ago?"

"Did I goof?"

"Well whoever reported in the team had Ken Wassus (Cherry Hill) down as honorable mention. He really made the all-conference team as a second pitcher and I thought he was being slighted."

Now let me see who did report that story? Thank goodness I don't have to reveal my sources.

AND, HENRY CANTIN, our dean of area newspapermen, said that someone should thank the hundreds of volunteers who devote their time to help various parks and recreation departments make their summer programs a success.

"There are so many wonderful people in this world," says Cantin, "and high on the list are these people who take time out to help with such programs as baseball, swimming, and other sports activities."

"Kids would otherwise be in the streets if the volunteers didn't do the job. Someone should pat these men and women on the back and say a 'big thank you' for the work they do," Cantin added.

You just did, Henry.

DARING YOUNG MAN — Bob Gill has done almost everything on a motorcycle, including leaping canyons with them. The world champion motorcycle jumper was in the area the other day and he talked with sports writer

Dale Gowing about the "life and death" thrills of his profession. Above, Gill leaps 152 feet, across the Cajun Canyon to set a world record.

Evel Knievel's 'rival'

World champ cyclist aims for 17-car leap

By DALE GOWING
Bob Gill is the type of person life insurance companies shudder at.

The world champion motorcycle jumper, who claims he's better than that other daredevil — Evel Knievel — has priced himself right out of the insurance bracket with his dangerous jumps.

Gill's occupation is even above the "high risk" insurance category, and is characterized by 130-foot leaps over rows of automobiles while aboard his powerful Kawasaki 350 and mighty thrusts over deep canyons. His aerial prowess isn't unfounded, though.

He set a world's record April 16, 1972 near New Orleans with the world's first successful canyon jump of 152 feet. Evel Knievel has never attempted that distance, Gill says.

THE FLASHY, self-styled "showman-engineer" will attempt another "first" Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Detroit Race Course in Livonia — jumping 135 feet over 17 brand new Plymouth Dusters. Once before Gill barely cleared 17 cars but they were all small foreign vehicles.

Can he make it? "Sure, why not?" he says, as if he's attempting nothing but a leisurely drive down the street. "I guess I wouldn't do it if I thought I couldn't make it."

Gill will do his "thing" between events at the Professional Cycle Races at the DRC, which is sponsored by the Metropolitan Club of Livonia and the Detroit Association of Motorcycle Clubs. The Dusters were donated for the jump by B.J. Ratigan Chrysler-Plymouth in Livonia.

The 27-year-old Gill, who lives in St. Petersburg, Fla., scoffs at the thought of injury, claiming he has been injured seriously only once since he began jumping 2½ years ago. Unlike his counterpart Knievel, the extent of Gill's injuries have been cuts and broken ribs.

HE WAS ORIGINALLY inspired to jump by watching Knievel, and has perfected his skill to the extent that it earns him upwards of $200,000 a year. Two weeks ago in New York he made $38,000 for a single jump.

"That's why I do it — for the money," he admits. "My earnings have been increasing each year, and in two years or so I should be grossing upwards of $1 million."

Gill's demonstration at the DRC will be for charity, and he will receive about one-third the amount of money he ordinarily would collect. He has performed in Michigan before, at the Detroit Dragway last year, but weak promotion and "lack of my current big name" kept the crowd size down.

He now has that "big name" and expects 20,000 or so to turn out Sunday.

Gill is married, with a year-old son, but insists his wife doesn't complain — much — about his hazardous ventures. "She puts up with it, that's all," he says.

He recently signed contracts with Kawasaki Motorcycles to use their machines in his jumps, and with the Ryder Co., makers of

Romulus teams gun for Huron

The only question in Romulus at the moment is how long can Huron Valley Steel keep going?

The undefeated leader of the Romulus Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League notched its 33rd and 34th straight wins last week to maintain a one-game advantage over second place Beck-Howell Carpets.

The 6-0 Huronites picked on Beck-Howell (5-1) for a 4-3 decision then shelled winless Baum's Funeral Home, 27-1.

Pitcher Rich Kokila won the Beck-Howell contest with a run-scoring single in the seventh inning. He spaced four Beck-Howell hits, while on the mound as loser Fred Eberline gave up seven.

Baum's Ivan Kinshella was raked by Huron for 31 hits.

BECK-HOWELL rebounded from its loss to the league-leaders with a 3-1 win over third-place Romulus Hardware. Winner Eberline singled twice for Beck-Howell and Ed Labato had two hits for Hardware.

Romulus Welding moved into a third-place tie with Hardware with a 16-9 win over Baum's and a 12-1 beating of Romulus Press Repair.

Press Repair picked up its second win of the season in

AP unveils inaugural All-State baseball team

(AP) — Todd Cruz, the senior shortstop at Detroit Western, has a brilliant baseball future ahead of him.

Cruz, captain of the 1973 Associated Press All-State baseball team, was the 26th pick in the recent primary draft by the major leagues.

"That tells you what they think of this fellow," said coach Paul Pamer. "I know he'll make it in baseball. He's got a great arm and good range. His attitude is just great and he wants to excel."

THE 6-FOOT-1 175-pound Cruz batted .509 for Western this season and was a second-round selection of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Al Weston, an outfielder from Hazel Park, batted .459 and hits the long ball. He's headed for Michigan State on a baseball scholarship.

John Jagels was named at second base on the first team. An all-around athlete at Rochester High, Jagels compiled a .365 batting average and won five of six games with an ERA of 1.22 as a pitcher. He'll go to college either on a football scholarship or with baseball as his top sport.

Bishop Gallagher had two players named to the Class B team. Shortstop John Mindelli has accepted a scholarship at Central Michigan University. He batted .353 in 41 games, has excellent speed and good power. Pete Saad, who batted .368 and had 29 RBIs, also made the first team and may also attend CMU.

TWO FINE catchers were named to the team from the Detroit area. Ernie Young of Denby, who has already been signed by the San Francisco Giants, batted .485 for the Tars while Doug Simunic of Romeo hit .342.

Simunic has a strong arm, a quick release and had 26 assists during the season. No one took liberties with his arm. He hit six home runs and batted in 32 runs.

Babe Ruthers to get skill-testing

More than 300,000 boys participating in Babe Ruth Baseball 13 - 15 year old leagues will have an opportunity to win individual accolades this year thanks to a new and exciting program.

"French's Pennant Award," sponsored under a grant by the R.T. French Co. of Rochester, New York and coordinated by Babe Ruth Baseball, is an individual skills program designed to improve the fundamental skills of running, throwing and hitting and to promote the mental and physical development of each boy through friendly competition.

The adoption of French's Pennant Award is another step in a continuous movement to make participation in Babe Ruth Baseball a more meaningful experience for all boys," explained Richard Case, International President.

EACH PARTICIPANT will compete against boys his own age in target baseball throwing, solo fungo hitting for distance and speed base running. All-around championships will be crowned for each age bracket with second and third place finishers also receiving awards.

Contests will be supervised and operated on a local basis by league officials. No purchases are necessary for any boy to enter FPA. All boys registered in a 13-15 year old Babe Ruth League that has adopted the program are eligible to compete.

Although no specific date has been assigned to FPA, the competition must be held during the local leagues' regular season schedule. Boys ages will be determined by Babe Ruth eligibility dates for this year.

Michigan State junior Bob Cassleman won the Big Ten 440-yard intermediate hurdle title in 1973 for the second straight year in a meet record-setting time of :50.7. It was the sixth individual loop crown he's won in a sparkling career.

By TOM MOORIDIAN

Two groups of youths were very busy over the weekend; one working to help their high school obtain uniforms, while the other stealing athletic jerseys that are hard to come by.

And one has to wonder what the youths really got out of breaking into the football cage at Robichaud High School Saturday and making off with 25 practice jerseys and a football helmet.

It will cost the school $5.50 each to replace a jersey and $32 to replace the helmet for a neat total of $169.50.

That's taxpayer's money. But, alas it's not the money that is important, it shows that someone or a group of someone have a bleak future ahead of them. Stealing doesn't satisfy one's thirst for wealth it only increases it.

MEANWHILE, a group of 20 Cherry Hill youngsters ran their hearts out Saturday over a 20-mile course in Edward Hines Parkway to raise monies to purchase track and cross country uniforms.

And would you believe that Coach Joe Grasley and his Spartans raised $1,022.05?

"You heard right," said "the ole coach", who also ran eight miles in the school's first run-a-thon. "These kids are wonderful. We had 21 who started the 20-miles and 15 of them finished. That's pretty good, wouldn't you say?"

"I was one of the runners who didn't finish," Grasley confessed.

THE RUN-A-THON, fashioned after the famous March of Dimes walk-a-thon, had the full sponsorship of the Cherry Hill Athletic Booster Club which helped hustle in scores of pledges including $156 that Grasley collected for his team.

"Joe Siebold has to be given a lot of credit," said the Spartan coach, "he's the one that got those guys to make pledges to make me run."

Siebold is an "old Spartan athletic booster" whose two sons graduated from the High School.

Mike Smith and Dave Hockersmith set the pace over the 20-mile Edward Hines Parkway course with Mike "winning" in a photo finish. There were three former Cherry Hill track stars in the group, including All-Area half-miler Phil Siebold and teammates Kim Renuis and Lou Hatzilias.

Also finishing the 20-miles were Mike Brown, Bill Johnson, Dan Wilson, Dan Barill, Bill Beaudrie, Scott Smith, Jim Myers, Daryl Redick, Mike Minor, Mark Hagedon.

HEFTY FRESHMAN shot-putter Carl Johnson also took a crack at the course and dropped out after doing the job for eight miles. Chris Wisner covered half the distance of the entire course while Chuck Siskowski trotted 13 miles and Jerry Wegrzyn and Bob York covered 17 miles.

Boys will be boys they say. And we're happy to see that there are a lot of boys like the ones at Cherry Hill who will devote their time to something constructive rather than destructive.

OH, BEFORE we sign off for the day - congratulations to Dil and Rick Clack - they're $200 richer thanks to their fourth place finish in "that big" Detroit newspapers' father and son bowling tournament.

Dil bowled a 569 actual and Rick rolled 637 and added to their 96 pin handicap they piled up a score of 1,302 at the Hazel Park Lanes.

The first place finishers bowled 1,363.

"We have now been competing 10 years in the tournament," said Dil, "and we finished second in Class C in 1963 when we received a trophy."

"This is the first time we won in Class A" he said.

Two hundred dollars will buy a lot of trophies, Dil.

After Sunday's jump Gill will head for Seattle and another dare.

Also, unlike Knievel, Gill uses no landing ramps, just launching ramps. He prefers to land on the ground.

Just last week in Rockford, Ill., Gill leaped 15 cars "with room to spare" as he says, and claims that a thing called external ballistics will get him over the 17 cars Sunday.

"External ballistics is physics," he begins. "I have a friend who works with computers and he runs the necessary data through a computer and it tells me what angle the launching ramp should be at, how fast to go, how long of a run or head start to take and so on. Of course, it can't figure the wind ratio because the computer is not aerodynamically designed."

"We have to play that part by ear."

Did you vote?

More than 100,000 All-Star Game ballots were distributed during the first weekend of voting at Tiger Stadium. Ballots will be available at Tiger Stadium until the voting period ends July 8. They can be deposited in ballot boxes at the stadium or mailed to the national tabulating headquarters.

Chamber chatter

Romulus must encourage commercial development

Board members of the Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce last October 9, 1972 questioned city officials about property values in Romulus.

At that time the chamber was told that almost all perspective land developers or purchasers were not coming back to Romulus after once appearing before the City Council with their requests.

The chamber's board of directors were also told that perspective developers were being treated with "belittlement and undue harassment," consequently narrowing the sellers market.

Today, eight months since that meeting, the chamber still finds the problem of property value not really changing or getting better.

One reason for property values in Romulus not increasing is that our community doesn't have more shops and shopping areas that will naturally attract people who want to move into our city.

Romulus has a definite need for a good commercial business area with department stores, variety stores, shoe shops, super markets, a theater, etc. It is this type of business area that attracts newcomers to an area and keeps the value of one's home or property worthy to that someone who wants to buy or move in.

On June 11, 1973 at the chamber's regular monthly board of directors meeting, it was agreed that the Downtown Business District Committee be reactivated immediately. This committee had been formed by the Romulus Chamber of Commerce to find and/or create an interest in developing or bringing to Romulus businesses that benefit both the city and the people of Romulus.

Efforts of the committee were to be concentrated on the area along Goddard Road between Wayne Road and Five-Points.

A communication in May, 1972 had been sent to the city council by the chamber requesting a $10,000 grant for an improvement study in this area. The request was turned down and the project dropped because of a lack of interest at the time.

However, the need today is still there only much greater than before and it will continue to grow. Realization of this need has many citizens of Romulus along with the business people wanting to "make it happen" here in Romulus.

The Romulus Chamber has been watching very closely past city government actions in relationship to perspective business developers coming to Romulus and strongly supports efforts for the much needed improvement in this phase of economic expansion.

Buy a fleet of cars. One at a time.

We don't just want to sell you a car this year. We want to sell you every car you'll ever buy. Chances are, you'll buy fifteen to twenty cars in a lifetime. And that makes you one of our biggest fleet customers. But we'll do more than offer you the lowest price. We'll give you our exclusive Free Mechanic Warranty that covers just about anything mechanical that could go wrong with your car for the first year or 12,000 miles. Including a free inspection at 4,000 miles, a free inspection at 8,000 miles and the factory, recommended maintenance scheduled for these periods The Mechanic is free. You pay only for the needed parts if any. In addition you get a 15 per cent parts & labor discount for two subsequent years. After all, we do want you to buy your next car from us. And your next. And your next. And....

It's about time a car dealer delivered more than just a car. *

MILITARY POLICE
Being a policeman in a city today means being something special. It also means being 21.
The work, for one thing,
is a lot more sophisticated than it used to be. Today's policeman is backed up by a battery of modern laboratory and communications equipment.
He also has a broad range of computer services and scientific instruments working for him. As a consequence, he has to be better educated than his predecessor - and more carefully trained.
For young people just out of high school, education is something that costs money. And police training is something they're too young to be eligible for unless they've heard of Today's Army.
Today's Army has openings right now for recent high school graduates interested in police work. Instead of paying for the formal instruction and training, those who qualify are paid well for being trained. The starting pay is $307 plus room and board, complete medical and dental care and 30 days paid vacation annually.
Army military policemen, like their civilian counterparts,
patrol designated areas,
control pedestrian and vehicular traffic, and protect security sites.
They receive their formal training at Ft.
Gordon in Georgia. After completing advanced individual training at Ft.
Gordon, they travel to the work site they selected prior to enlistment. This can include installations
all over the world.
Probably the best thing about training for a law enforcement career in Today's Army is the value municipal authorities place on military police work.
They know when they are approached for a job by an ex-PM that he is a well trained professional and miles ahead of guys whose experience is far advanced beyond those who wait until their 21st birthday.
If you're interested in being a law enforcement officer and somebody special, see your local Army representative at 405 S. Main Street,
Belleville, Michigan Call
